This Airline Information Handbook is a non-exhaustive list, and is subject to constant modifications and additions by the membership countries of the EU/Schengen regulations.

It is not a legally binding document and has only an advisory function.

Documents can have different individual, non-standardized features (divergent stamps, fonts, etc.).

A sheer comparison with the picture in the leaflet does not replace an authenticity check.

The decision to accept or refuse a passenger from boarding a flight is to be made only in collaboration with the respective airline.

In order to be up to date, the airlines should regularly consult the TIMATIC website or the website of the European Union and check

29 countries

On 1st of April 2024, Bulgaria and Romania became the 28th and 29th country to fully join the Schengen area. Specific regulations about documents from those countries issued before March 31, 2024, are mentioned on pages 83 and 233.

New Schengen members Bulgaria and Romania from April 01, 2024

Special regulation concerning short-stay visas, residence permits and long-stay visas from Bulgaria and Romania, issued before March 31, 2024

As from March 31, 2024, the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania are going to issue Schengen visas valid for the whole Schengen area.

National short-stay visas already issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania

National short-stay visas issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania before March 31, 2024, shall remain valid during their period of validity.

Nevertheless, holders of these national short-stay visas will only be able to travel in the Republic of Bulgaria, Romania and, also to Cyprus, but not to other Schengen Member States.

Holders of a national short-stay visa issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania wishing to travel to other Schengen Member States will need to apply for a Schengen visa.

Residence permits and long-stay visas issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania

The residence permits and the long-stay visas issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania will still be valid after March 31, 2024 and during their period of validity.

Holders of Bulgarian/Romanian long-stay visas, issued by the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania still valid after March 31, 2024, will be able to travel freely in the Schengen area in accordance with Schengen rules (no more than 90 days in any 180 days period) after March 31, 2024, regardless of checks at internal land borders.

Map of the Schengen area and the Schengen States

- Cyprus and Ireland are not “Schengen” States!
- Although those countries use the same uniform format of the EU visa and residence permit card.

No entry in Schengen countries with visas from those countries allowed, only “international” transit at the airport is possible.

Where do I submit my visa application? Schengen

How can I use the visa?

- You must lodge the application for a Schengen visa at the Consulate of the country that you intend to visit.
- If you intend to visit more than one Schengen State, it is the Consulate of the country of your primary destination.
(i.e. main purpose of stay or longest stay)
- If you intend to visit several Schengen States and the stays will be of equal length, you must apply at the Consulate of the country whose external borders you will cross first when entering the Schengen area.

Therefore, a passenger who uses the visa for travelling for the first time must either first enter the country that issued the visa or must prove that he is travelling to that country during his current trip.

Use of Schengen Visas (Entry Regulations)

Schengen

- The short-stay visa does not automatically entitle you to enter the Schengen area.
- At border (or during other controls) you may have to show the visa and perhaps also provide additional documentation, for example, information that you have sufficient means to cover the stay and the return trip.
- It is therefore recommended that you carry copies of the documents that you presented when applying for the visa (e.g., letters of invitation, travel confirmations, other documents stating the purpose of your stay).

NFC chip embedded in residence permits and how to check on it

NFC chip embedded in residence permits

Read and verify the NFC chip

There are Apps which can read and verify the NFC chip embedded in your electronic passport and other ICAO compliant identity documents (ePassports, or in ICAO Doc 9303 terminology, electronic Machine Readable Travel Documents, eMRTD). The app optically scans the data page of the document to gain access to the embedded chip. It then reads the embedded chip and displays the biographical and biometric information of the document holder, as well as document information, after which security checks, such as Active Authentication, Document Signature Validation, and Country Signature Validation, are performed and detailed results are shown.

There are various free applications available for Android + IOS devices that can help with reading and verifying the NFC chip (e.g., ReadID me, REGULA, Kinegram). For obvious reasons, we cannot recommend a particular one.

Travel authorization

A scanned document showing a travel authorization form for military personnel. The form is mostly blank with some redacted sections. It includes fields for name, rank, unit, destination, and purpose of travel.

- 1- Military members of the US Armed Forces stationed at bases: a passport is not required, only the personal military identity card issued by their country of origin, as well as the service order issued by their country or by NATO, is valid. They do not require a visa in any case, regardless of whether they use a passport (any type) or simply the card referred to above.
- 2- Dependent family members of US military personnel stationed in the bases: they require their ordinary passport in force, without the need for a visa, as well as the travel authorization issued by their country of origin, which reflects their status as dependents of the military personnel stationed in base. Once these dependent family members have been reunited with the soldier stationed at the base, their passport will be stamped in Rota, which will entitle them to enter and leave during its validity.
- 3- Civilian personnel in the service of the US Department of Defense: they require the ordinary passport in force, without the need for a visa, as well as the service order issued by the country or by NATO reflecting their status as civilian personnel. Once at their destination, their passports will be stamped just like military families.
- 4- Dependent family members of Civilian Personnel in the service of the US Department of Defense: they require their ordinary passport in force, without the need for a visa, as well as the travel authorization issued by their country of origin, which reflects their status as family members, dependent on civilian personnel assigned to the base. Once at their destination, their passports will be stamped just like military families.

European Agreement on specific regulation concerning Ukrainian refugees

Extension of validity of certificates of temporary protection until March 4, 2025

The temporary protection mechanism for Ukrainian refugees, implemented by the EU Council's decision in March 2022 initially for one year, was extended again until March 4, 2025. As a result, the validity of the certificates of temporary protection issued so far, will also be extended alike.

Those who have received from the Office for Foreigners a certificate of temporary protection with an expiry date of March 4, 2023, September 4, 2023, or March 4, 2024, do not need to apply for new documents. Certificates issued will remain valid until March 4, 2025.

Foreigners who have so far received certificates can continue to use them as residence permits confirming their legal status (the permit is valid in the Schengen State of issue, whether it can be used to travel to other Member States depends on whether it is listed in Annex 22).

Regulation applies to all EU/Schengen countries.

Signature in passports

In general, passports have to be signed by holders!

As a general regulation, a passport is valid only

- when signed by the bearer in the space designated for signature,
- or, if the bearer is unable to sign, signed by a person with legal authority to sign on his or her behalf,
- or, if it is stated in the passport that the bearer is not required to sign (children under a certain age).

Exceptions may apply (for details see TIMATIC).

If there is a space designated for signature and the passport is not signed (exceptions may apply), please ask the passenger to sign the passport in front of you!

Signature in passports

In general, passports have to be signed by holders!

Special regulation for Germany:

(see Bulletin 05/2023)

CLICK HERE

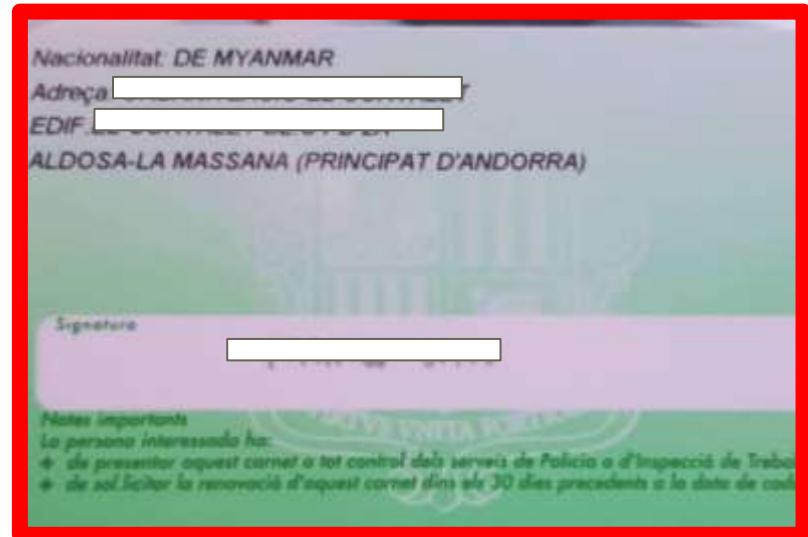

- A passport without a designated space for a signature of the bearer is generally not valid for travelling to and entering in Germany (exceptions may apply, see TIMATIC). This regulation even applies for passengers who are not having the intention to enter in Germany but only passing the international transit area at a German Airport to travel onward to their destination in a third country (e.g. to US or UK).
- Passengers with passports without a designated space for a signature (e.g. Indonesian passports) who are also a holder of a residence permit issued by another Schengen member state are allowed to enter Germany to travel to the issuing country where they are residing without pre-clearance from German authorities. This applies also to holder of category D visa from other Schengen member states.
- If a passenger with a passport without space for a signature is holding a residence permit from Germany, the person can only be accepted for travelling to Germany with a pre-clearance from the Federal Police office at the Airport of his destination. The German ALO/ILO abroad cannot clear such kind of passengers;

Therefore, the Airlines would need to contact the concerning Federal Police Office in Germany at the disembarking Airport on their own to get the approval (usually by e-mail).

“ELAMISLUBA” (residence permit)

The residence permit card is marked "not valid for travel", as it is not an independent travel document - that means that in order to cross the border, a person must have a travel document, i.e. a passport, in addition to the residence permit card.

This entry is on both adult and children's residence permit cards and has no other special meaning. Rather, this notice is aimed at the user of the document, so that he/she knows that when traveling, it is not enough to just carry the residence permit card with him (unlike EU citizens, who can travel within the EU with an ID card).

Germany

The image shows a specimen of a German Fiktionsbescheinigung (provisional residence permit). The card is pinkish-green with a faint background pattern. A large red watermark "SPECIMEN" is diagonally across the card. At the top left, there are fields for Name, Vorname, Geburtsdatum, and Sex. At the top right, there are two serial numbers: L 0000000. In the center, there is a list of reasons for issuance:

- der Aufenthalt als erlaubt (§ 11 Abs. 3 Satz 1 AufenthG)*
- die Abschiebung als aussteht (§ 81 Abs. 3 Satz 2 AufenthG)*
- der Aufenthaltstitel als fortbestehend (§ 81 Abs. 4 AufenthG)

A green arrow points from the text "Valid in connection with the expired residence permit or D visa." to the third checkbox. Below the list, there is a note: "Diese Bescheinigung wird mit Ablauf des im Klebenheft (Seite 3) genannten Gültigkeitszeitums ungültig." At the bottom left is a green-bordered photo of a smiling person. The photo has a green smiley face overlay.
